

RECYCLED FLOWER HUIPILES: Though each of these items appear 100% unique, they actually have a lot more in common than you think. Not only is each one Fair Trade and created by happy hands in Guatemala, but they are all made from recycled huipiles. A huipile is the traditional blouse worn by women in Guatemala. Each Mayan tribe has a distinct design and pattern that are hand-embroidered. But as everyone knows, clothes are outgrown and become worn with age. So, our artisans bring new life to their traditions by sewing the huipiles into wallets, bags, throw pillows and other accessories. Made by one unique individual for another.
